left New York March 29th last to come to Cincinnati. She had been ill, and William H. Ewing of 485 Eighth avenue, in whose family she had been living, placed her in charge of the train conductor. The latter wired Mr. Ewing from Springfield, 0, the end of his run, that she was much improved and would continue through to Cincinnati. Since that telegram was received nothing has been learned of her whereabouts. Mr. Ewing communicated by telegraph with her father, Robert Dawson of Maysville, but the latter supposed she was still in New York.

Mr. Ewing has written Chief Deitsch for aid in locating the young lady, and the headquarters detectives are now endeavoring to obtain some clew as to her whereabouts.

THE GREAT REVIVAL.

All Yesterday's Meetings Were At-tended By Immense Crowds.

Scores of Christians engaged in earnest prayer for the salvation of those who had requested petitions from God's people. During the hours of service business was practically at a stand-still, and even in those few stores that were kept open the one theme was the great meeting and the riddle of the long eternity that awaits the human soul.

Never in the history of Mayaville has there been such universal crystalization of thought—and every sentiment is deep concern for the welfare of all that live and must die.

The meetings will continue until Sunday evening.

Thempson a Bedy Blore.

Louiseille Times.—Colonel Phil Thompson can speak for himself, and he holds power of attorney to speak for Colonel Berkeinridge, but we must earnestly protest that he has no authority to speak for the great mass of the men and women of Kentucky, or of mankind in general, whom he most grossly misrepresents when he declares that all men have illicit relations with women, if ouly to show that they are men, and gives his approval of Miss Pollard's preference for the part of mistress to a brilliant debauche to that of wife to a poor and piain but honest man. Colonel Thompson's entire argument from opening to close is pitched upon a plane so low, brutal and vulgar that every self-respecting and state loving Kentuckian must rise up and repuddate, with sever, indigustion and detestation, and with severy, indigustion and detestation, and many the control of the places upon a men which he places upon descriptions of the places upon of estimate which he places upon rican manhood and womanhood. It is opinion of The Times that the ments advanced by the leading @ for the defendant are as hurtful disgraceful as any of the acts seed by his client.
